

COMPLETE COMMUNITIES STRATEGY

The first round of interviews

There will be other interviews and public meetings.

Multiple surveys and consultations have taken place over the course of the past year related to the future of Chapel Hill. This Complete Community work is building on this work to date, including the inputs received in the Transit-Oriented Development Planning workshops, interviews, and public meetings from SOM. To drill deeper into the question of Where and How to Grow, and to identify champions for advancing Complete Communities, a series of interviews are being undertaken to further inform the recommendation of an approach and a pilot project. The following representatives have been invited to the First Round of interviews.
